

Hopkinsville Kentuckian.

CHAS. M. NEACHAM, Editor.

TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 3, 1889.

HOPKINSVILLE, KENTUCKY.

A live and growing city of 8,000 inhabitants, situated in a country of 40,000. The Louisville and Nashville has two lines of railroad in the county. The largest tobacco growing county in the world. Wheat, corn, hay, coal, live stock and fruits produced for export in large quantities. The city has four banks with an aggregate capital of $400,000. A planing mill and wagon factory, three carriage factories, lime factory, tobacco manufactory, two foundries, three brickyards, broom factory, steam laundry, ice factory, two large flouring mills in the city and several in the county. Splendid hotels, fine opera house. Five turnpikes radiating from Hopkinsville. Building and Loan Association, Commercial Club, a telephone exchange, numbered streets and houses and city lighted by gas. Macadamized streets and brick sidewalks all over the city. Eleven churches, two colleges, a high school and the finest system of public schools, white and colored, in the state. West Kentucky Lunatic Asylum with a population of 650, two miles east of the city. A $100,000 court house with town clock in the dome. A fine fire department and a company of State Guards. Little River furnishes an adequate supply of water for all purposes. Real estate low and rents cheap. Fine opening for woolen mill, pork packing establishment, fruit canning, tannery and many other enterprises. Climate mild and invigorating and exceedingly healthful.

The St. Louis Exposition opens tomorrow.

Mrs. Florence Maybrick is now a life convict in an English prison.

The Lexington fair drew immense crowds last week and turned out to be a grand success.

Jno. L. Sullivan's mother died Friday while the big bruler was on a howling drunk.

Henry Shaw, the St. Louis philanthropist, left the bulk of his $2,500,000 estate to the city of St. Louis.

Ten thousand lives were lost by recent storms in Japan. Twice as many more persons were made homeless.

Jno. R. Mock, a carpenter, who was arrested on suspicion of sending the dynamite machine to the Lexington Leader, was tried and acquitted last week.

The National Press Association in session at Detroit elected C. A. Lee, of Pawtucket, R. I., President, and selected Boston as the place for the next meeting. Kentucky was not represented.

Hon. Henry G. Davis, of West Virginia, and Mr. Chas. R. Flint, of New York, have been appointed to represent the United States in the Congress of American Nations next month.

The list of delegates so far appointed to represent the United States at the Congress of the American Nations, at Washington next month, is composed of six Republicans and four Democrats.

Mrs. Mary Donnelly, the nurse who was stabbed by Mrs. Robt. Jay Hamilton, at Atlantic City, N. J., is pronounced out of danger and Mrs. Hamilton's offense will be reduced to atrocious assault, for which the penalty is from two to five years imprisonment.

Rezmund Holzhay, the lone highwayman who has terrorized Michigan and other Northwestern States for months, has been captured and lodged in jail. His latest exploit was the robbing of a stage coach and the murder of one of the passengers about ten days ago.

Mrs. W. E. Christian, nee Julia Jackson, the only child of Stonewall Jackson, died at Charlotte, N. C., Friday after two weeks illness of typhoid fever. Her husband is editor of a weekly paper there called the Charlotte Democrat. The remains were taken to Lexington, Va., for interment.

A special Congressional election to fill a vacancy will be held in the Third Louisiana district to-day and the Republicans are moving heaven and earth to overcome a Democratic majority of 4,000 or 5,000. A delegation of visiting statesmen and boosters from the North were sent down ten days ago to "assist" the Republicans, and manufacture some excuse for a contest to unseat the Democrat who will be elected.

Col. Bennett H. Young was burned in effigy at Harrodsburg a few nights since because of a change made in the schedule of trains on the Monon road, supposed to be locally controlled by Col. Young. The citizens of the town published a card in Friday's Courier-Journal disclaiming any sympathy with the outrage, to which Col. Young replies declaring he had nothing to do with the change and expressing himself willing to use his influence to have the train taken off again put back.

Sylvester Morales, an ex convict, has turned bandit in Southern California and some of his exploits rival in boldness anything in the annals of crime. Ten days ago he abducted a beautiful Mexican girl from near San Diego and has forced her to accompany him on his rounds of murder, robbery and horse-stealing, although her father has invoked the whole civil power of three counties to help him to rescue his daughter. He has committed several murders and leads his pursues in a wild goose chase over the country, stealing a fine horse every few nights. Being a Spaniard, he finds shelter with his countrymen, who are afraid to refuse, and so far he has eluded and defied the officers and terrorized the whole country.

The "arrangement" between the editors of the Elizabethtown Independent and State Senator D. L. May, since the facts have been made public, turns out to have been a disgraceful affair and a very corrupt "sell-out," based on a contract in writing. Nor is this all. Editor Stovall publicly admits in his paper that he has lied in some of his statements about the matter. This alters the phase of affairs, and whatever has heretofore appeared in these columns that may have been construed into a defence of Stovall is hereby "expunged from the record." There is a wide difference between this sort of business and inserting reading locals at so much a line.

The committee investigating the West Virginia gubernatorial vote found a large number of fraudulent votes cast for Goffin Mercer, one of the counties on the Virginia line. In one precinct 78 negro votes were thrown out, because they were proven to have voted in Virginia the same day, and in another precinct 40 more were found who were registered voters in Virginia. These votes were also thrown out. Fleming, the Democratic candidate, is now 140 votes ahead and will undoubtedly be declared elected Governor. As soon as the work is done the Legislature will be convened to receive the Committee's report.

Corporal Tanner caused a howl of indignation to be raised by fixing a price upon the virtue of soldiers' widows, in making the following statement in a speech at Milwaukee, during the G. A. R. meeting: "I tell you, comrades, this $12 a month, small as it may seem, will often preserve the virtue of some dead comrade's widow." His whole speech was ordered to be expunged from the records, but the ubiquitous reporter was on hand and took it down.

There are 43 Presidential postmasters in Kentucky, and thirty-four of them are Democrats, all of whom will hold office until their terms expire. Those in this section are Owensboro, which expires December 5; Henderson, November 2; Hopkinsville, July 2, 1890; Princeton, October 5, 1889. The Republicans have in applications for everyone of the offices and in many places are retreating over the delay—Owensboro Messenger.

The long-delayed returns from Breathitt county are in at last and Sharp's official majority is 33,523. The total vote was, Sharp 148,081, Colson, 115,159, Cobb, 3,000. Compared with the vote of last year, the result shows that 35,000 Democrats and 40,000 Republicans stood away from the polls.

Ex-Judge A. M. Pulliam, who killed Jas. Miller at Hardinsburg, and was tried last week and given a sentence of 15 years, accepted the verdict without dilatory motions and was taken to the penitentiary Friday. Seven of the jurors wanted to hang him.

A Congress composed of delegates from the various countries of North, Central and South America, will assemble at Washington next month. The body will visit Louisville Nov. 1 and will make an excursion to Mammoth Cave while in Kentucky.

Wm. Black Montgomery, a son of Judge James Montgomery, has passed a competitive examination and been appointed to the U. S. Naval Cadetship by his uncle, Congressman A. B. Montgomery, of the Fourth District.

A second election to vote aid to the Henderson State Line railroad was held in Henderson yesterday.

State of Ohio, City of Toledo. Frank J. Cheney makes oath that he is the senior partner of the firm of F. J. Cheney & Co., doing business in the City of Toledo, County and State aforesaid, and that said firm will pay the sum of ONE HUNDRED DOLLARS for each and every copy of Catarrh that cannot be cured by the use of Hall's Catarrh Cure. FRANK J. CHENEY. Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence, this 6th day of December, A. D. 89.

A. W. GLEASON, Notary Public. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally and acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. Send for testimonials, free. F. J. CHENEY & Co., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists, 75c.

THE CRAFT.

The Grayson Republican is dead. J. W. Miller has begun the publication of the Democrat at Ashland.

W. G. Oyerstreet, who recently started the Springfield, Ky., News, has sold out to J. N. Saunders.

The Caldwellburg Democrat, whose editor was an Indian agent under the last administration, has come out strong for Cleveland in 1892.

The most sensible course for the editors of the Frankfort Capitol and Richmond Outlook to pursue is to drop the controversy over the executive committee of the K. P. A.

The editors of the News and Democrat, the rival papers of Lawrenceburg, are amusing themselves and disgusting their readers by trying to bluff each other with bets on their respective circulations.

Thomas H. Corbin. One of Christian County's substantial men and loyal citizens, died at his home on the Clarksville pike Friday evening, August 16th, 1889, at 7 o'clock. Mr. Corbin was born in Warren county, Ky., Oct. 31st, 1826, came to Christian Co. when a boy of fifteen, worked on the farm and went to school alternately until grown, making his home most of the time with Davenport Jones, father of Mr. Lucien Jones; Carter L. Renshaw, and later with Mr. B. S. Campbell. Married Henrietta H. Caldwell May 10th, 1856, who bore him two children: Ermie, wife of J. J. Van Cleve, and son, the latter dying in infancy. In January, 1860, his loving wife crossed the last river and left him to raise their only child. How well and faithfully he cared for little Ermie, by tending through heat and cold to provide for her every want and give her a liberal education needs no witness, other than the loving and sorrowing daughter, now the mother of three beautiful children who were the pets and idols of their grandpa.

The writer has known Mr. Corbin intimately since he came to the county in 1840. He was my friend for forty-nine years, and he was as true in his friendship as the needle to the pole. So strong were the ties that bound him to his neighbors and friends, that strong men when looking for the last time upon his lifeless form, bowed down and wept as children when a loving parent is being laid down to rest.

We do not claim perfection for our departed friend. "There is none that doeth good and sinneth not," and he doubtless had such faults and imperfections as are the common property of a fallen race. Yet they were as dress to fine gold in contrast with his many virtues and noble traits of character.

Mr. Corbin was a quiet, modest man, a man of few words, but was ever ready for action when duty called. He was a brave man, for none but the brave stand for the right to condemn the wrong. More, he was a man of clean lips. No unchaste or impure words were uttered by him. He was a charitable and forgiving man. No viper nestled in his breast. He was an industrious, thoughtful, and intelligent farmer, hence a prosperous man, leaving a handsome landed estate for those whom he loved, and for whom he toiled. And last of all he was a Christian man, fearing God, and keeping his commandments. In early life, he united with the Christian Church, was a regular attendant at God's house, died in the faith and rests from his labors.

Let us who knew and loved him keep his memory green in our hearts, and emulate his many sterling qualities and Christian virtues, and it will not be long until our departed friend will greet us on the banks of the river of life. Until then, friend of my boyhood, young manhood and old age, Farewell.

To Dispel Colds.

Headaches and Fevers, to cleanse the system effectually, yet gently, when colds or biliousness, or when the blood is impure or sluggish, to permanently cure habitual constipation, to awaken the kidneys and liver to healthy activity, without irritating or weakening them, use Syrup of Figs.

Drawing Water From the Nile.

Now, I will try to explain the process of drawing water from the Nile. First there are from two to six peasants located on the bank of the river, their number depending on the height of the bank. The first man raises the water in a bucket from ten to fifteen feet and empties it into a ditch previously cut and the water runs usually twenty feet to the end, where there is a depression or artificial well large enough to accommodate the leather bucket of the man above, who also raises the water in the same way as No. 1. In the case of No. 2 the ditch may run along the side of the bank some distance to the well-hole of No. 3, who raises as previously represented to the fourth, and so on to the top of the bank, where it is conducted in small ditches over a large tract of country. They have this to console them: That if they give the land water it will repay in an abundant harvest, of from eighteen to twenty-five bushels of grain to the acre. I was permitted to see the drops, so uniform in growth and color that a yellow spot could be found in fifty acres of wheat, barley, millet, or white clover, which grows to the height of two or even three feet.—Cor. Buffalo Express.

General Sherman was once a patient of Dr. Bliss, who died the other day in Washington. The doctor had been treating him for some time for some slight but troublesome disorder and had given him several different kinds of medicine, when one day on making his regular call the General said to him: "Doctor, I don't seem to be getting any better for all of your medicine." "Well, General," replied the doctor jocosely, "perhaps you had better take Shakespeare's advice and 'throw physic to the dogs.' " "I would, doctor," replied the sick man as he turned his head on the pillow, "I would, but there are a number of valuable dogs in the neighborhood and I don't want to kill 'em off."

At High Ridge, near Stamford, Conn., there is a wife who is the mother of fourteen children, all living, and none of them twins. All but two live at home, and these two, catching the scarlet fever, went home to be cured. They gave it to the other dozen, and the whole fourteen were sick at once, and medicine had to be mixed in pitchers and bread pans.

Sells Bros., Against the Field. In the race for first money among circusmen, Sells Brothers will win, hands down. They have demonstrated the fact that the best attractions always are the most profitable to the management, and while the other would-be big shows have been shrinking in size year after year Sells Brothers' show has been expanding. It is not all luck, as their disappointed rivals assert—it is courage, faith, perseverance and a persistent adherence to fixed principles. Nothing is too expensive for Sells Brothers and "nothing is too good for the public" has been their shibboleth. Of the three recognized legitimate big shows now in existence in this country, Sells Brothers' show is characterized by the verities of its owners, while the others are in the rear and yellow leaf. One exists on the glory of a faded and decaying name; another by the force of fortuitous circumstances, while Sells Brothers march onward, meritorious, fair and square, with the best performance and rarest novelties. This year S. H. Barrett's World Fair, contemplating a tour of the Pacific Coast and Northwest, formed a coalition with Sells Brothers and the two big shows will travel together, exhibiting day and night in the same towns, making their parades at the same hour and what is more remarkable they will both exhibit under the same canvas for one price of admission, and that, too, just the same as other and smaller shows charge. These two shows will exhibit at Hopkinsville Wednesday Sept. 18th.

Common Sense

In the treatment of slight ailments would save a vast amount of sickness and misery. One of Ayer's Pills, taken after dinner, will assist Digestion; taken at night, will relieve Constipation; taken at any time, will correct irregularities of the Stomach and Bowels, stimulate the Liver, and cure Sick Headache. Ayer's Pills, as all know who use them, are a mild cathartic, pleasant to take, and always prompt and satisfactory in their results.

Cathartic

"I have used Ayer's Pills in my family for seven or eight years. Whenever I have an attack of headache, to which I am very subject, I take a dose of Ayer's Pills and always with prompt relief. I find them equally beneficial in colds; and, in my family, they are used for bilious complaints and other disturbances with such good effect that we rarely, if ever, have to call a physician." H. Youllens, Hotel Youllens, Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

"WHAT is meant by 'free alkali,' Doctor? I see it mentioned in the advertisements of Ivory Soap."

"Free Alkali," Madam, is the alkali which is not combined with the fats or oils of which the soap is made, due to the ignorance or carelessness of the soap maker. Soaps in which 'free alkali' is present are decidedly injurious to both the clothing and the skin when habitually used. I have seen reports of analysis made of the Ivory Soap by men eminent in our profession, and all pronounce it to contain no 'free alkali,' to be made with great care and of materials of the best quality, carefully selected, so I unhesitatingly recommend it for every purpose about the house for which good soap is required."

There are many white soaps, each represented to be "just as good as the Ivory," they ARE NOT, but like all counterfeits, lack the peculiar and remarkable qualities of the genuine. Ask for "Ivory" Soap and insist upon getting it.

Shortly after 10 o'clock on the morning of July 16th, B. D. Hogan, an account of considerable previous experience, made an ascent from Brooklyn in an airship. This airship, the invention of Mr. Peter C. Campbell, of Brooklyn, and had, as its most prominent feature, an oval-shaped balloon, about sixty feet in length, made of fine Japanese silk imported expressly for the work. Especial interest was felt in this ascension from the fact that it was claimed that the ascension would, with the various mechanisms provided, be able to control the movement of the balloon so as practically to navigate the air, moving in any direction with or against the wind, and at a greater or less elevation, as desired, an attainment which had, apparently, been achieved in some brief trials had last year at Coney Island. The ascent was made from the works of the Nassau Gas Company, where a pipe from a large meter was connected with the balloon to supply the lifting power. The meter showed that 15,000 feet of gas were used, the balloon being filled at about 10 o'clock when the ropes were tested and some sand bags attached to the network and placed in the net. The start was made in a southeasterly direction, owing to a brisk wind from the northward, although the amount was seen to be vigorously turning a crank which kept the steering apparatus and propelling wheels revolving rapidly, with the evident intention to compel the ship to rise into the wind. When about a mile distant, the bottom wheel, intended to raise and lower the ship, became detached and fell to the ground. An hour after the start the ship was seen to be full under way toward the Atlantic Ocean, on the south side of Long Island, and at an elevation estimated to be several thousand feet. The ascension had, at that time, been reported to have had the appearance of being greatly disarranged, and it appeared as though a man was clinging to the netting of the balloon. At 12:30, about two hours after starting, the airship was observed from the shore, and was reported to have been sighted by a man who was climbing to the netting of the balloon. At 12:30, about two hours after starting, the airship was observed from the shore, and was reported to have been sighted by a man who was climbing to the netting of the balloon.

Kentucky Progress.
Ashland.—J. A. Haskell, J. H. Pogue and others have incorporated the Forest Dale Fire-brick & Tile Works for the manufacture of bricks and tiling and the development of mineral lands. The capital stock is $40,000.
Ashland.—J. M. Miller has commenced the publication of the Democrat.
Cloveport.—The Mine Central Gas & Manufacturing Co., now boring for gas, will sink a second well.
Corydon.—Play Parker has contracted with the Kentucky Southern Oil & Gas Co., of Louisville, have offered to erect an oil refinery with a capacity of 1,000 barrels per week if the city will subscribe for 18,000 of their bonds, donate a site 600x400 feet, and give certain privileges. The oil company writes that they will erect a refinery for illuminating purposes within the city limits.
Hickman.—A. Natchez, Miss., company offers to erect water works to cost $30,000 and furnish the town with water at $1,200 a year if given the right to a steam laundry.

Louisville.—The Falls City Lithograph Co., will put in addition machinery.
Lexington.—The Lexington City Rate Co. will petition next legislature to amend their charter, allowing the use of electricity as a motive power.
Lexington.—C. C. Moore contemplated publishing the Blue Grass Blade.
Middleborough.—Inquires from the following parties respecting establishing large works at Middleborough: From Western Pennsylvania, factories for making steel rails and country bridges, car wheels and rail-road cars; from Eastern Ohio, works for steel wire, bolts, rivets and cast-iron pipes; from Northern Ohio, works for axles and forgings; from Chicago, transfer of nail works; from New York, plant of two furnaces for making foundry iron; from Eastern Pennsylvania, coal mines.

Robbed in Blocks of Five.
[New York World.]
There is a grim humor about the fact that while Quay, Fassett and three other practical politicians were aboard the yacht Manatee, off Atlantic City, they were relieved of their watches and small change. A wide-awake man by reputation they must suffer to think that they have been robbed "in blocks of five."

The Distinction Between the Two.
"Shadob, have you seen Sig. Stretchwell, the India rubber man at the museum? He's a wonderful freak."
"He's more than a freak, Dingus; he's a miracle."
"Well, what's the difference between a freak and a miracle?"
"A great deal. Suppose you owe me ten dollars. It's much more than that, but we'll suppose it's only ten. If you should take a notion to pay it that would be a wonderful freak. If you should actually pay it, Dingus, it would be a miracle."—Chicago Tribune.

A Second Methuselah.
SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 19.—For several years there has been domiciled at the Monterey county hospital an Indian known by the name of "Gabriel." As to the exact day, month or year of his birth, no one knows, but of the fact that he has passed the wonderful age of 150 years there is a quantity of proof. Gabriel was born in Tulare county, but during childhood moved to the town of Monterey. Father Junipero Serra arrived in Monterey in 1770, and it is said that Gabriel was at that time a grandfather. The young age at which an Indian married was fifteen years old. If Gabriel followed the custom and married at that age, he would have been born thirty-two or thirty-three years old to have been a grandfather at the time of Father Junipero's landing there. Father Junipero taught the art of cutting and laying out the first chapel in the years of 1771 and 1772 Gabriel assisted in the construction of the wall. He became expert at his trade that managed and assisted in the construction of the San Antonio Mission in 1781. He was then married to his second wife, Gabriel still speaks proudly of the skill he acquired as a stone-cutter. He or Sorrentino, the priest, and Bishop Amat reached Monterey some time in the year 1846. The former says that Gabriel was then living with his wife and six children, and that he was the senior of all the old inhabitants. He was then known by the same name and was said to be at that time over 110 years of age. A widely known old lady, the name of Castro, who died five years ago at the age of ninety-five, in testifying to Gabriel's age, said that when a child she saw old Gabriel, and that at that time he had children. Purely a young man older than she then was Gabriel remained at Old Capitol until a few years ago, when he removed to Salinas Valley, where he has been sojourning ever since. Up to within two or three years he was a familiar figure on the streets of Salinas City, but now he is rarely seen, as his trips from the hospital to the town are becoming less frequent. He has a coat made of cloth representing all the colors of the rainbow.
